

Sara Schmidt, 5th Grade, Thomas Maclaren School

“My lost heart” by Sara Schmidt

In the depths of time, I lost a part of me,
A treasure forgotten but hard to see.
Through twists and turns, I searched high and low
Until I found it my heart all aglow.

It was my passion of creative fire
Lost in the chaos, but now inspired.
Its importance lies in the joy it brings
Unleashing dreams and soaring wings.

For when we find what was once misplaced.
Our souls ignite with purpose
So cherish the treasures you hold so dear.
For they bring meaning and make life clear.

In the journey of life, we all may stray,
But remember, Sunshine, you'll find your way
Your creativity shines like a guiding light,
Igniting inspiration day and night.

Keep exploring, dreaming, and letting it flow.

Your talent and passion will continue to grow.

Embrace the magic that lies within.

And let your artistic spirit always win.